Rams to Play Maine Saturday

Football Famine Here Broken
As Rhody Returns to Gridiron

Rhody's first varsity football squad since the war curtailed the athletic program in 1942, has been drilling and performing well daily under the coaching of coaches Tootell and Cieurzo. To date three games have been booked. State will meet the University of Maine at Orono on Saturday. The following Saturday, Oct. 20, the team will be at New Brunswick, N. J. to meet Rutgers. Boston University will play here on November 3.

Many veterans have been noticed drilling daily. Among them Frank D'Ambra of Cranston, a former Air Corps bombardier-navigator, and Sal Cationio of North Providence who played freshman football here at State before he entered the armed forces. Sal served as a lieutenant with the engineers. Both fellows are striving for backfield positions.

A few others back from the war include Dave Macauley of Pawtucket and Bill Kramer of New Jersey, former lieutenants, both making promising bids for an end berth. Tackle candidates are M. Bolzano and Anthony Roderick of Bristol.

High school experience is the background for a few more of the squad. Vin Sarni played first string for two years on Classical's squad. Classical is the Class B school which has been undefeated for the past two years.

Another promising backfield candidate is Sal "Red" Vento who captained his varsity eleven at Staples High, Westport, Conn. "Red", incidentally, was voted the outstanding athlete in his class.

A few promising upperclassmen have been drilling daily. Among these are Ed Petorella, Art Coy, Leon Nahigian and Bob Ohmesarge who need no introduction to Rhodyites.

More newcomers include Harry Brown, J. Volivo of La Salle, Eddie Dahl who have been reporting at Meade Field daily.

STUDENT UNION COMMITTEE NAMED

The Student Committee for the War Memorial Union held its first meeting on Monday, October 1st, to draw up plans for the coming year.

John Satti, chairman, Bruce Fogwell, Yo Santulli, Jack Temkin, Ann Eldred, Marilyn Roberts, Mary Klanian, Olive Briggs and John Schoeder compose this committee whose job it is to publicize and to raise funds for the War Memorial Union.

Features of this drive will be rallies, dances, auctions and War Memorial bond sales. The committee also hopes to have a speaker's bureau, a one-act play and other entertainment which as a unit will appear before Alumni meetings throughout New England and New York. In the course of this drive the entire student body will be called upon to cooperate in making the proposed Union a reality.

Social Work Courses Begin

Four courses in social work have been added to the new adult education program of the General College Extension division, it is announced by the director, Dean Asa S. Knowles, of the School of Business Administration.

Requests by various groups engaged in social work throughout the State for instruction to cover problems in postwar readjustments led to organization of this program, Dean Knowles said.

Instructors will be Dr. Alan D. Grinstead, who joined the faculty this semester after nearly four years' service in the Navy. "Psychology of Adjustment in Human Relations" will be taught by Dr. Grinstead, until recently a lieutenant commander at the Quonset Naval Air Station.

Dr. Brewton Berry, another new

McGrath Endorses Memorial Union

Honorary Alumnus J. Howard McGrath, newly-appointed Solicitor General of the United States, and a frequent visitor to the campus when he was Governor of the State, gave a hearty endorsement of the Student Union Memorial when he made his contribution to the building fund. Donations listed in the first $10,000 to the fund include $1000 gifts from President Carl R. Woodward and Chairman A. Livingston Kelley, of the Board of Trustees; $500 from Controller Stanley J. Gairloch, and $200 from Edward J. Vayo, college purchasing agent.

Mr. McGrath's statement is as follows:

"The Student Union on the campus of our State College is, in my opinion, a most fitting memorial to the Rhode Island students and alumni who died in the military service of their country. At the same time it will be a permanent tribute to the more than 2200 men and women on the college Honor Roll. Few colleges in the country can claim such a large percentage of its alumni group in the service, nor such a large portion of its men who are represented by the gold stars on the college service banner.

"The Student Union is an appropriate medium for teaching young people the importance of those human relationships which are so necessary in our everyday life. As the focus for all non-academic activities at the college, it will stand as a symbol of the highest purpose of civilized man—a purpose whose ideal is expressed by the Golden Rule. When nations and races of men set their standards by this rule, we shall need not fear another war which would be far worse than the two World Wars in which our State College alumni and students fought and died. Since the basic objective of a Student Union is to emphasize this need for finer human relationships, the very nature of the building is such as to inspire the support of all friends of youth, while at the same time not forgetting the immeasurable contribution made by our veterans toward insuring a better world for future generations.

"Since this is not strictly an academic building in the sense of its having class and lecture rooms, or

Beacon Sponsors First Formal

Staff to Stage Dance in Lippitt Saturday, Oct. 20

Brand new on campus this year besides the Frosh "400" is Rhody's first formal of the semester, the Beacon Ball, given by your own Beacon staff. Here is something that you've all been clamoring for, a big week-end with the participation of all. Profits go to you also for a bigger and better paper "re-converted" to peacetime activity.

Hub Neilan's orchestra is really tops; they played at Ocean Beach Park in Connecticut this past summer and drew a bigger dancing crowd than the famous Duke Ellington. The Ball promises sweet music in a colorful setting, and all this for two twenty a couple plus your gorgeously gowned date. Semi-formal dress is in order, so abandon stiff fronts.

The date—October 20, so men, amble over to the nearest dorm or sorority to meet Rhody's co-eds, and girls your out-of-town friends, including servicemen, are welcome additions.

Tickets are now on sale and may be purchased from any member of the Beacon board.

D. W. D. Metz Joins Faculty

New in the field of American history at Rhode Island State College is Dr. William D. Metz.

Born in Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Metz was reared in New England. He received his bachelor's degree at Bates College in Maine where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Dr. Metz taught two years in the public schools of Mexico, Maine, before attending graduate school at the University of Wisconsin where he took his doctor's degree in history. He taught at the University of Wisconsin as a graduate assistant for three years.

Dr. Metz is interested in our local history, and at present is investigating the history of Massachusetts of the early eighteenth century.

Quadrangle Quotes

What would induce you to stay at Rhody over a week-end?

Beverly Hops, E. R. H.—Dances, and any social affairs.

Pat Grant, E. R. H.—Any special affair.

Eleanor Beaver, D. Z.—A football game with a good dance after it.

Ed Sarno, Alpha Tau—The New Union.

Rusty Blackmar, E. R. H.—A 1:00 o'clock permission for all women on Saturday nights.

Alice Asadorian, E. R. H.—A football game with Brown.

Ed Peterella, Rodman Hall—"If a lot of people stay, I'll stay."

Toni Lewis, S. K.—Lots of dates.

Mae Werntz, E. R. H.—Any kind of an athletic event.

Lionel Brown, U. Club—"Oh, sports, not women." (How do ya like that?)

Betty Rooney, E. R. H.—A movie bus to Wakefield on Sunday afternoon.

TRIGGER GIRLS OF HIGH CALIBRE

Turnout for the girls' Rifle Association, alias "Club .22" (that's our caliber) was sixty strong last Wednesday night in Quinn Auditorium, and the girls showed a marked interest in pursuing the tricks in the trade of shooting.

Those who have had an itching trigger finger, but who have never had the opportunity to use it will be reporting to Rodman Hall in slacks and shirts on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons for preliminary training of the art, and the real sharpshooters will have their meetings Thursday evenings from eight to ten.

Future experts in the field will be able to participate in "postal tournaments" with various other girls' schools in New England later in the season. A good eye and steady hand are not hard to acquire with practice under the able guidance of Captain Hazlett, faculty advisor. Attendance at every meeting is also important.

This sport comes under W. A. A. and points are given for active membership in the club.

BEACON NOTICES

Beacon meetings are held in South Hall every Monday at 5:00 p. m.

If anyone who has not had an opportunity to sign up with the Beacon and wishes to do so will address a note to:

Editor of Beacon

Bob Shea, Theta Chi, is treasurer of the Sachems, and left guard of Rhody's outstanding hoop team.

Winner of honors, president of Sigma Kappa, and former president of the Home Ec Club is Ruth Dove, another member.

Another Sigma Kap is Sue Vose, president of the Women's Athletic Association, sports enthusiast, Home Ec Club officer, and Beacon Women's Sports Editor.

John Satti, business manager of the Beacon, is also a member of the Union committee, Phi Sigma honorary biological society, and student chairman of the drive for a new Union.

New members are tapped for Sachems every semester.

UNION

Hi there—all you grand folk in our hundreds and hundreds of houses over our miles and miles of campus!

Isn't it fun being a great big family this year, instead of the intzy-bitzy one of last? I've been having the best time getting acquainted with all you new students. You've started your four years right by dropping into my office for one reason or another. If the rest of you haven't yet told me about yourself by the time this Beacon comes out, why don't you plan to do so soon? Make an appointment or just think up some excuse, such as getting change or borrowing some cards or a pencil—or you might even break a phonograph needle if you like. Anyway—I want to know you, so please carry on from here.

Previous to the joint meeting each club held a rush party for freshmen interested in debating. Portia has twenty-three new recruits, and the Wranglers, ten. On October 17, both clubs will hold freshmen try-outs at which the freshmen will discuss the potentialities of an assigned question as a topic for a debate.

Moderator of the Sachems is Bruce Fogwell, of Phi Mu Delta fraternity. He is the reviver and president of Phi Delta, dramatic society, and member of Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholarship society.

Sachems' secretary is Eleanor Sandsea, member of Delta Zeta, Sigma Kappa.

Phi Deltas

Prevue Season

The first meeting of Phi Delta was called to order with President Bud Greenberg, and Advisor Dr. Lee C. Wilson presenting the year's program.

Mysteries, comedies and farces were discussed from Mary Rhinehart's "The Bat" to "Aaron Slick from Punkin' Crick."

Phi Delta looks forward to an eventful year and expects to produce four plays. The plays will vary, to bring to the college new experiences in the field of drama.

The four plays will include the three one-act Freshman plays, and a musical. The proceeds will go to the Student Union Memorial.

Phi Delta also intends to develop a library of plays for references in order to insure the best productions. The prospect of an active year makes necessary an enterprising group of backstage technicians. For experience in the theatrical world—come to Phi Delta.

Musical Clubs

Resume Activity

An election was held by the College Concert Choir for a new co-manager to take the place of Muriel Senior, former officer. Ruth Dove was elected to this post.

The College Choir and Glee Club gives concerts for the members of the college during the year, and because of the lifting of travel restrictions, expect to perform in other localities in Rhode Island and nearby states.

To balance the choir, more male voices are needed in addition to the twenty already participating. Selections are varied from Haydn to Hoagy, and desire to sing is the main requirement. Rehearsals are held weekly on Monday at 7 o'clock, Edwards Hall.

RAMS TO PLAY MAINE

With reports as promising as they are the Rams will soon be rollicking away. Let's all of us, as the student body, stand behind our football team and give them our best support.

Yours for a still better Union,
Helen Lockwood
P. S. I don't like to sit on a chair where a coke's just been, do you?

Interclass Hockey Tournament Planned

A meeting of all head managers was held on October 1 at 7 p. m. in Lippitt Hall. The meeting was called to order by the president, Sue Vose, and plans were made for the coming year. Charmon Perry was elected chairman of the program committee.

It was also announced that Gloria Goodwin has accepted her nomination by the W.A.A. Board as publicity chairman.

Elsbeth Hart announced that plans are being made for an interclass hockey tournament. Notices as to the first games will be posted on the bulletin board in Lippitt.

... We'll start the proverbial ball rolling with a reminder about the BEACON BALL that is in the offing. Yes, dear reader, one of the greatest rhythm extravaganzas in the history of Rhody will be unveiled on the night of October 20. The ball will bounce to the musical meanderings of Hub Neilan and his ten piece orchestra. Get that, friend—a ten piece orchestra, complete with vocalist. The dance will be held in Lippitt Hall and will be semi-formal in attire. That means that the gals wear formal and the escorts go semi... Our motto for this dance is "The Male Must Go Too" ... While on this entertaining subject, there is another little item that might interest you in the class of those who are talented in the arts of making "moosic." Last week two enterprising gentlemen thought it would be a pretty good plan to organize a little of our musical talent on the campus. In short, they want to organize a small band to play for the Union dances and—if successful, go on to even greater heights. At present they would like to hear any of you proficient at banging a bass, "guiting" a guitar or eloquent at playing any of the brass instruments. Seriously, if you are interested, pay either Bill Gertz or Bob Aronson at AEPi a little visit... Your interest will be appreciated and most likely well repaid. There is a knock on the door—"Come in," echoes a voice shaking with anticipation of what is to come. Slowly there enter two white gloves following by the owners. And thus is begun a daily inspection of rooms by Messrs. Hazlett and Grinstead. Yes, the era of a week's clothing, pencils, shoe-trees, bottle caps, etc., left piled in various places by individuals of the men's dorms, is past... Now the rooms are being given inspections daily, by the two above mentioned gentlemen... East Hall is planning a gala Halloween get-together, and the D. laboratories, it is not the type of structure which would normally be financed from State funds. For that reason, the enterprise of the alumni association in taking the initiative to gain funds for this non-academic building is highly commendable.

"As a friend and honorary alumnus of the college, I am indeed happy to make a contribution to the building fund, and I hope the campaign will move forward with such rapidity as to enable construction of the Union in time for our returning veterans who will be attending college the next five or six years under the G. I. Bill of Rights."

Need Stronger Relations

There is one thing lacking on our campus for which there is a definite need, especially now that there is an increased number of student personnel.

We lack a bond of personal interest between students and faculty. We meet only in class and too often students think of their professors in terms of the courses they teach and the grades they issue. Students don't ever seem to meet members of the faculty other than those who instruct them.

There is no definite social contact between the faculty and the students and no means yet exist by which the faculty can show its interest in student problems. If there were a student-faculty committee composed of representatives from the faculty and student body, stronger, friendlier ties could be formed. Social gatherings could be planned including both the faculty and the students. General student problems could be discussed with the faculty aiding the students in finding a solution.

These are only a few of the possibilities. We would like to suggest that you discuss this in your house meetings and make recommendations to your representative to the Student Senate where this question should be taken up.

Letter to Editor

Editor of the Beacon:

Because of the dearth of young men on campus for the past two years we girls have become so used to opening doors for ourselves and otherwise doing the small things that the fellows used to do for us, that we are delighted to see so many of the boys being thoughtful again.

Most of us are still in the habit of being independent, but it flatters us to be shown these small courtesies. We all try to show our appreciation with a smile or a "thank you," so if we slip up now and then—remember our solitary past!

Regardless of whether or not the opening of doors and the rising of a fellow when a girl comes to the table is required of Freshman boys, we girls truly hope that it will continue and also spread among the upper class boys.

We sincerely mean this; for no matter how independent we may seem, we girls instinctively enjoy attention and hope that chivalry is not dead.

WOLF CALL

It's Pretty Chilly these Days,
 And we Don't Blame You One Bit
 If You Think You Can't
 Keep in the Swim
 Down 'round THIRTY ACRES.

But, Brother, You're NOT
 In the Swim Hereabouts
 Unless You Get Your Date,
 And Get it NOW!

For the BEACON BALL
 At Lippitt Hall
 The date for Your Date
 Is a Week Come Next
 Saturday, at Eight.

It'll be a Smooth Ruckus
 Without Benefit of Tuckus.
 But the Gals will Appear
 In Fine Frills and Tuckers.

For this Hot Social Whirl
 Pick Yourself a Good Girl,
 So when Neilan Starts Tootin'
 You'll Be There for the Shootin'.

Keep the BEACON BALL Rolling:
 And We Don't Mean Go Bowling.

It's a Ten Strike for Two,
 At Two-twenty for Two;
 That Includes the Gov. Tax—
 Yes, indeed, them's the Facts.

So, Brother, if you think
 You're the Answer to a
 Maiden's Prayer,
 We'll expect to See You There.

A FLIGHT THAT NEVER LEAVES THE GROUND

A bomber crew needs training as a team. And now those hazards which are too dangerous for air-borne drill can be duplicated on the ground. This is made possible by an electronic flight trainer perfected by Bell Telephone Laboratories' scientists for the Navy.

At remote controls the instructor follows the "flight," sets up various dangerous conditions, coordinates the crew's reactions.

Tubes glow, switches click much as they do in a telephone exchange, to duplicate such flight perils as icing, fouled fuel lines, "conked" motors. It is the science behind the telephone that here performs another new service to the Nation.
